CHAPTER 8

Judges 8:22-23, “Then the men of Israel said unto Gideon, Rule thou over us, both thou, and thy son, and thy son's son also: for thou hast delivered us from the hand of Midian. And Gideon said unto them, I will not rule over you, neither shall my son rule over you: the LORD shall rule over you.”

INTRODUCTION

Gideon won a decisive battle against the Midianites at the valley of Jezreel but a number of the enemies managed to flee and cross the Jordan River. Gideon purposed in his heart to pursue the remaining Midianites and complete the task God had appointed him to do and was successful. Success is not always easy to handle. How did Gideon handle his success? In this chapter, it is alarming to see the change that took place in Gideon's character and conduct. He was so different from the man who was introduced in Chapter 6. He had described himself as one who was poor and who was the “least in my father's house” (6:15).

But in this chapter, he had to face criticism from his fellow tribal brethren. When he requested for help from his fellow Israelites, they were not willing to cooperate with him. His victory over the remaining Midianites had given him tremendous honour and popularity. He could have retired in peace and ruled the people of Israel as their judge by calling them to be grateful to the LORD their God and to walk in His ways. Gideon was tested, and found to be wanting.

Unlike human writers who will always paint a glowing picture of their heroes, the divine writer painted a true-to-life character of the “heroes” in the Bible, both their good and bad qualities. The reason is that God wants people to learn to do what is pleasing and not what is abominable in His sight. One of the things we ought to learn in this chapter is how quickly human beings forget to be grateful to God for what He has done for them. How easy it is to forget God as one climbs the ladder of success. “Let him that thinketh he standeth take heed lest he fall” so warned Paul. In addition, we learn about the devastating effects of compromise, defeat and backsliding in the later phase of Gideon's life.

OUTLINE

1. Gideon criticized by Ephraim (vv. 1-3),
2. Gideon is denied cooperation (vv. 4-9),
3. Gideon finishes off the Midianites (vv. 10-21),
4. Gideon invited to rule (vv. 22-23),

5. Gideon makes an ephod (vv. 24-27),
6. Gideon dies (vv. 28-35).

COMMENTARY

Gideon Criticized by Ephraim

– 8:1-3

Gideon was pressing for time so that his pursuit of the Midianites could get quickly underway. His intent was to finish the task the LORD had commissioned him. But he was interrupted by the Ephraimites who sharply criticized him. They chided him for not calling them to be part of his army in the battle against the Midianites. Such sentiment must have been motivated by their pride as they were the largest tribe. They could also claim their progenitor, Ephraim, who was a son of the distinguished Joseph and that the mighty Joshua belonged to the tribe of Ephraim. They could also take pride that the Tabernacle was located in their city of Shiloh. It is likely that they had come to believe that they were the most important of the 12 tribes. Therefore, Ephraimites should be involved in all-important tribal matters.

This interruption by the Ephraimites was unwarranted. Firstly, they did not make any effort to attack Midian on their own since they were the largest tribe. Secondly, they probably had heard of Gideon's recruitment of the men of Israel to fight against the Midianites, but did not send men to support him. Thirdly, they did not know that God had reduced Gideon's army to a small band of 300. The victory was a decisive one, and all credit should be accorded to the LORD God alone. Ephraimites' accusation of Gideon was without any reason and purpose, the result of jealousy and an injured pride.

Gideon could have responded with an emotional reply telling them that they had not responded to his call for warriors in the first place. However, Gideon's response was most commendable especially under the circumstances. He was in the heat of a battle. He spoke metaphorically by saying that the consolidation operation by the Ephraimites — "the gleaning of the grapes" — was greater than the battle carried out by him — "better than the vintage of Abiezer" (v.2). Gideon further said that God had delivered the two princes Oreb and Zeeb into their hands, and what he was able to do could not be compared with them (v.3). Gideon's "soft answer" worked, cooling the Ephraimites' anger.

Gideon's answer was tactful and discreet. He kept his emotions under control. He took care to answer wisely. Uppermost in his mind was the pursuit of the remaining Midianites and to finish them off completely. This was more important than making an outburst of his own although he had the right to do so. By minimizing the victory, he was not downplaying God's victory. He said, “What have I done now” although he could have added that it was God who had done it. Though he dealt with the Ephramites purely on a horizontal level, he managed to pacify them in order to continue his pursuit of the Midianites.

Gideon is Denied Cooperation

Gideon and his 300 men were in hot pursuit of the Midianites. They came to the Jordan River. They crossed it and came to the city of Succoth, a distance of about 80 kilometres from “the hill of Moreh” where they began (7:1). Gideon’s men in pursuit were understandably weary and worn out. Gideon begged the people of Succoth for “loaves of bread” citing that they were chasing after Zebah and Zalmunna, kings of the Midianites (v.5). But the leaders of Succoth refused to supply food for the men. It was unimaginable as their fellow Israelites had been fighting to free them from the oppression of the Midianites and they should have been excited and readily and freely given what was asked for. They acted insensitively. They further insulted and mocked Gideon: “Are the hands of Zebah and Zalmunna now in thine hand, that we should give bread unto thine army?”(v.6). Their reasoning was that what if Gideon fails and these two formidable kings could easily take revenge on them for helping Gideon.

Gideon was enraged. He threatened that when the LORD had delivered the two kings into his hand, he would return to Succoth to “tear your flesh with the thorns of the wilderness and with briers” (v.7b). The people of Succoth who professed to be the people of the LORD God would not lift a finger to help their fellow country men. They had no fear and respect for the LORD! Gideon pressed on with his army following the trail of the Midianites, tired and thirsty till they came to Penuel. He approached the men of Penuel for provisions for his weary men. But they answered Gideon the same way as the men of Succoth had. An angry Gideon said that on his return after the battle, he would break down the tower in Penuel — the very tower which was their means of protection against enemies.

Gideon Finishes Off the Midianites – 8:10-21

The two kings of the Midianites, Zebah and Zalmunna, were in Karkor together with their soldiers. The armies of the Midianites were left with about 15,000 men, having lost 120,000. The remaining number still outnumbered Gideon’s army of 300 by 50 to 1! Gideon launched his attack on the armies of the Midianites and decisively defeated them. Thus the task of destroying their oppressors was complete. Zebah and Zalmunna made a last futile attempt to escape and were finally captured. Gideon took both kings with him on his return from the battle field to Succoth and Penuel as he had promised.

On the return journey, Gideon caught a young man of Succoth. Gideon questioned the young man who told him all the names of the leaders and elders of the city, 77 of them. On entering Succoth, he displayed Zebah and Zalmunna before the people and threw back their earlier challenge to him. The 77 leaders and elders must have been shaking in fear. Gideon carried out his threat by torturing them with thorns and briars. In Penuel, he also carried out his earlier threat. He destroyed the tower, and slew the men of the city. He punished Penuel more than he had threatened them.

Gideon set up a public trial to try Zebah and Zalmunna. He asked the two kings what men did they slay at Tabor. This apparently must have referred to an incident in which these two kings were directly involved and responsible. They answered that the men who were executed were men who looked like Gideon, each of them resembled a prince. Gideon said to them that those men were his brothers, the sons of his mother. If they had not slain his brothers, he would not kill them. Now he had no choice but to execute them. He commanded his firstborn son, Jether to draw his sword and kill the two kings. Jether could not bring himself to execute the kings because he was still very young. Zebah and Zalmunna told Gideon to play the man and kill them. The reason why the two kings instigated Gideon to kill them instead of his son was because it would be a shameful and a dishonourable way to be killed by a young man instead of by a military general. Gideon got up and slew Zebah and Zalmunna. It seemed strange that Gideon took the saharon, crescent shaped ornaments, which were on the necks of the camels (v.21). These ornaments were most likely made of gold and therefore of great value. Apparently Gideon has an eye for gold and precious metal.

Gideon Invited to Rule – 8:22-23

The enemy had been defeated and Israel enjoyed peace in the land. Then the men of Israel proposed to Gideon that he rule over them, and his son, and his grandson also. The reason for the proposition was Gideon had delivered them from the hand of Midianites. This proposition was not right on two counts. Firstly, it was not Gideon who delivered Israel from the Midianites. It was God. In proposing Gideon to be their king, they believed that a single ruler could lead their combined forces and prevent any future domination by other nations. Secondly, the men of Israel were proposing a monarchy-form of government like the Canaanites who lived among them. They also wanted a hereditary dynasty; a proposition not only to have Gideon as their king to rule over them but also his son and his grandson. This was not in accordance with the will of God. Israel was to be a nation ruled by God Himself rather by any human king.¹ They wanted a king and not God to rule over them instead of a king under God to rule over them. Gideon's answer projected this understanding: "I will not rule over you, neither shall my son rule over you: the LORD shall rule over you" (v.23). God might not be visible to Israel but He was very much active in her affairs. Israel was His subjects. God meant Israel to be a theocracy. This was a theocracy and not yet time for a monarchy.

Gideon Makes an Ephod – 8:24-27

Having declined the offer to be made king of Israel, Gideon compromised by asking the men of Israel to give him the golden earrings, which they had taken from the war booty. They willingly gave the golden earrings to him. The total weight of the earrings they collected for him was "a thousand and seven hundred shekels of gold." This was a large collection of gold. Included in the collection were ornaments, pendants and purple robes, which were worn by the kings of Midian, and ornamental crescent chains around the necks of the kings' camels. Gideon wanted to live like a king.

¹Deuteronomy 33:26 There is none like unto the God of Jeshurun, who rideth upon the heaven in thy help, and in his excellency on the sky. 27 The eternal God is thy refuge, and underneath are the everlasting arms: and he shall thrust out the enemy from before thee; and shall say, Destroy them. 28 Israel then shall dwell in safety alone: the fountain of Jacob shall be upon a land of corn and wine; also his heavens shall drop down dew. 29 Happy art thou, O Israel: who is like unto thee, O people saved by the LORD, the shield of thy help, and who is the sword of thy excellency! and thine enemies shall be found liars unto thee; and thou shalt tread upon their high places.

With the gold, which he received, Gideon made an "ephod". An ephod was designed by the LORD God to be worn only by the high priest. In it were the Urim and Thummim which were a pair of devices by which the high priest would ask for the counsel of the LORD God.² Gideon placed the ephod in Ophrah, his own hometown. This was a very unwise thing to do. Though he declined the proposal to be the king of Israel, he asked for a collection of golden earrings and other royal paraphernalia, which greatly increased his finances and treasury. By making the ephod he was thereby posing as the high priest. The ephod became a spiritual trap for all Israel; for they made their "pilgrimage" to Ophrah ²Exodus 28:30 And thou shalt put in the breastplate of judgment the Urim and the Thummim; and they shall be upon Aaron's heart, when he goeth in before the LORD: and Aaron shall bear the judgment of the children of Israel upon his heart before the LORD continually.

Numbers 27:21 And he shall stand before Eleazar the priest, who shall ask counsel for him after the judgment of Urim before the LORD: at his word shall they go out, and at his word they shall come in, both he, and all the children of Israel with him, even all the congregation.

instead of Shiloh to worship it. Israel committed spiritual adultery — an abomination before God. It was also a snare to Gideon and to his family. It was sad indeed.

All these things seemed to betray the real desire of Gideon's heart. He changed his lifestyle to that of a king and priest. He kept a harem of concubines which normally was associated with kings and not with ordinary men. Polygamy was never God's intention for marriage. He had seventy sons by his concubines. Recall he had earlier said to the Angel of the LORD that he came from a poor family. The last shred of evidence that betrayed his desire to be a king was when he named his son "Abimelech" who was born by a concubine in Schechem. The name "Abimelech: translated literally, "my father is king." So, whenever people asked his son what his name was, he would say "my-father-is-king." This was a far cry from the Gideon who was first introduced in Chapter 6—a fearful, humble and poor man who depended on and trusted the LORD. His victory, his riches and his popularity caused his spiritual down slide.

It appears that Gideon's mouth says that he does not want to be king but his heart says otherwise. Such hypocrisy is hateful in the sight of God. It reveals the sins and underlying carnal motive of Gideon in the midst of a great victory.

Gideon dies – 8:28-35

Gideon ended his life on a sad note. For forty years Israel experienced quietness under his judgeship. But his term of office did not make a deep impact on the nation. He did not leave a lasting legacy. He died of old age in his hometown where he was buried in his father's sepulchre (tomb). After his death, the children of Israel soon turned again to idolatry by worshipping the gods of the Canaanites—Baalim and Baal-berith. They had forgotten the LORD their God, who had freed them from the oppressions of their enemies who surrounded them.

PRACTICAL VALUE

Gideon began well in his life as a humble, timid and hardworking young man who cared for the people of Israel as he began his ministry. God called him to deliver His people from the Midianites. He proved to be a good and obedient servant of God who delivered the powerful Midianites into his hand. However, his victories became a snare to him. He showed his arrogance by over punishing the men of Succoth, and in the case of Penuel, he overstepped his own threat by killing the men of the city. The moment he coveted the royal paraphernalia of the Midianite kings, and his desire for gold and riches, and the making of an ephod, his spiritual down slide was certain.

He forgot the LORD God and he left nothing for Israel after his death. It was a sad end to a very promising start. The Christian life is not a short sprint but a marathon. It is a long distance race to the finishing line. We are to grow steadily, little by little each day of our lives, every moment and day living our best for the glory of God. It is difficult but the end is rewarding and satisfying. A Christian must not forget the Lord Jesus Christ who has saved him from eternal damnation and blessed him abundantly.

Another of Gideon's character flaws after his decisive victories was his arrogance. It was so evident in his encounters in Succoth and Penuel. He was so quick to kill the people of God. Satan, the adversary, "as a roaring lion" keeps looking for Christians whom he can discourage and destroy.³ Paul warns (1Cor. 10:12): "Wherefore let him that thinketh he standeth take heed lest he fall." How many Christians have fallen into this trap!

On the other hand, the conduct of the men of Succoth and Penuel was unthinkable. They were Israelites, the people of God, who had been freed from the oppressions of the Midianites through Gideon. They should have willingly and warmly extended their hospitality to Gideon, who was on a mission on their behalf to complete the task given to him by God that would ensure their continued security and safety. Instead they even mocked Gideon. This conduct is so true in many churches today. Members of the church who should be supporting and encouraging their pastor and leaders who are working and serving God for their spiritual well-being, turn against them with criticism.

2 Corinthians 2:11 Lest Satan should get an advantage of us: for we are not ignorant of his devices.

Usually such criticisms come from Christians who do not faithfully and diligently read and study the Word of God on a daily basis. They form their own ideas and are too ready to compromise with the ways of the world. Satan looks for such self-confident and proud professing Christians to divide and destroy the unity of the body of Christ. Take heed. These have been seduced by the lust of the eyes and the flesh. The pride of life and consumed their hearts.

Finally, there was a noticeable absence of a word of spontaneous praise, gratitude and thanksgiving to the LORD God after the resounding victory against the powerful Midianites. Gideon was unlike Deborah who sang the song of victory and gave praise to the LORD. There was no such outburst of joy and praise to the LORD in this chapter.

Christians must always remember to thank the LORD for all that He has done for us. Whenever we observe the Lord's Supper, we should lift our hearts with praise and thanksgiving to God for His love and goodness not just on that day but every day of the week, and throughout our entire lives! This remembrance of the LORD is indeed a means of grace to strengthen our faith and increase our love for our LORD, for His Word, for His Church, for His people, for His work, and for His service. AMEN
